Suzanne Varco and S. Wayne Rosebaum

Form New San Diego Law Firm

Suzanne Varco and S. Wayne Rosebaum have formed Varco & Rosenbaum Environmental Law Group LLP in San Diego. The firm was formerly known as Opper & Varco LLP The Environmental Law Group.

In addition to Varco and Rosenbaum, Linda Beresford will continue with the firm as a partner and Eric Grant has joined the firm as an associate. Richard Opper has left the practice.

“Over the 13 years since we first established our practice, environmental law and related areas have continued to be our focus. Our new name highlights our significant expertise in this ever-evolving area of law,” says Varco, who remain as managing partner of the firm. “We are proud that we will also continue to be a certified women-owned firm.”

The firm provides services in a broad range of environmental law areas ranging from litigation and appeals to transaction, compliance, advice and advocacy. Varco’s private law practice concentrates in areas of brownfields’ redevelopment hazardous waste cleanup, and real estate transactions. Rosenbaum practices in the areas of storm water, land use and natural resources, with an emphasis on water quality and land use laws affecting infrastructure and renewable energy projects.
